CHINA WAR RELIEF PROBLEM URGENCY STRESSED

DR. C.Y. WU ENDORSES INSPIRING ADDRESS BY WELL-KNOWN AUTHOR 240,000 Beds Under Care Of Chinese Red Cross Organisation

In response to Miss Freda Utley's speech on the war relief problem given at the Hongkong Rotary Club luncheon yesterday, a full report of which will be found on page 9, Dr. C. Y. Wu, Director of the Hongkong Bureau of the National Red Cross Society of China has issued the following statement:—

Miss Freda Utley's inspiring address has brought to the forefront the urgency of the war relief problem.

Miss Utley's speech is notable for the emphasis she lays upon the following facts:—

The pioneer work of Dr. Robert Lim, director of the Medical Relief Commission at Changsha, who has charge of all field work under the Chinese Red Cross, especially the establishment of the Training School for nurses, dressers and first-aid men to feed the front-line organisation.

FUR COATS FOR CHINA'S WARRIORS

Shing, Kokonor, Oct. 4.

The people of Chinghai Province (Kokonor) in response to the nation-wide appeal for winter clothing for the Chinese fighters at the front have decided to contribute 10,000 sheep fur coats during the autumn.—Central News.

The inadequacy of trained personnel, especially doctors and nurses, Miss Utley appeals to Chinese doctors to volunteer for service under Dr. Lim.

The disparity between the number of casualties and the medical equipment available to treat them; The menace of malaria and the urgent need for more quinine;

Finally, the necessity for supporting the Chinese Red Cross organisation, which with the Army Medical Service, is responsible for 240,000 beds as compared with a few thousands beds in missionary hospitals.

I heartily endorse Miss Utley's appeal.

ISOLATED EFFORTS

Before September last year, beyond isolated efforts nothing had been organised for the treatment of war wounded on a scale commensurate with the extent of the casualties. Tremendous progress has been made since then but what has been achieved is definitely below the standard aimed at. In effect, the development of the war medical service (both Red Cross and Army) has not kept pace with the rising tide of casualties, for reasons which Miss Utley has so lucidly and forcefully set forth in her speech.

Taken by themselves, the results of the past year's efforts make pleasant reading—it would have been impossible to do more with the facilities available and the difficulties that had to be confronted.

Dr. Lim in December left an important and comfortable professional post to organise something from practically nothing. He developed the medical relief commission, first at Hankow and later at Changsha, and by his example drew into his organisation many of his old colleagues and assistants and inspired others to follow his lead. He now has over 50 units in the field and more than 200 qualified surgeons.

He has organised an ambulance corps to take charge of battle front casualties and a transport system to collect wounded and send them to the rear. He has recently established a training school at Changsha to turn out trained field workers, and in addition, has organised preventive units to fight epidemic diseases so crippling to war efficiency.

It has been my privilege, since October last year, to see that Dr. Lim lacks nothing in the matter of supplies and funds. It has been a worthwhile partnership. My appeals in the name of the Chinese Red Cross have reached many corners of the world. It has been an education to learn how generous and sympathetic people can be, once they know why their help is wanted.

NEW SHANGHAI DEFENCE ZONE

French Prohibit Photographing

CAMERA SEIZED

Shanghai, Oct. 4.
Last Saturday the French military authorities are understood to have issued an order forbidding photographing in the new defence zone. It is believed that the ban was printed to-day for the first time.

On Sunday a representative of one of the local papers had his camera confiscated by the French military after he had taken pictures of a blockhouse and barricades at the intersection of the Concession and Settlement roads in the western district.

The camera was returned yesterday evening without the film, which was being developed, and unless the pictures revealed military "secrets" the representative was informed that the film would be returned.

Incidentally, the post snapped was built on territory formerly under Chinese jurisdiction.

Although the tension in Europe has subsided and there is no reason for anxiety to remain, and in even more imaginative circles, the French military authorities continue to maintain the newly erected defences in the western area and three new parallel lines of barbed wire are now completed.—Reuter.

CHAMBERLAIN'S PEACE POLICY APPROVED

Question Of Loan To Prague

London, Oct. 4.

The House of Commons debate on foreign policy is discussed in lengthy editorials by the press this morning. Practically all the leading papers express their approval of Mr. Chamberlain's peace policy, and organs of the opposition support the criticism voiced by Mr. Duff Cooper, Mr. Eden and other opponents of the Prime Minister's policy.

Several papers, however, discuss the question of whether the granting of financial assistance to Prague would not involve England too deeply in continental affairs and they make it clear that they would disapprove of any commitments on the continent beyond those already assumed by the Government.

In discussing the question of an eventual General Election the opposition organs show a noteworthy reserve. They regard the putting of the confidence question by Mr. Chamberlain, shortly before the conclusion of the debate as a clever move and they admit that victory for the Government in a vote of confidence on Wednesday is practically certain.—Transocean.

AUTUMN GALES IN ENGLAND

Elm Tree Falls On Bus

THREE KILLED

London, Oct. 4.

The south-east of England met the full force of the autumn gales last night.

An elm tree fell on a crowded bus in Upper Norwood. Three persons were killed and the bus almost hidden by the branches of the large tree. The bus was released two hours later after being crushed.

The gale reached a velocity of 90 miles an hour and 4,000 telephones lines to London were disrupted while scores of trees were blown down.

Many streets were flooded.—Reuter Bulletin.

BOMB NEAR BELGIAN LEGATION

Chungking, Oct. 4.

Japanese planes appeared over Chungking to-day but contented themselves with dropping only a single bomb which fell in the neighbourhood of the Belgian Legation at the confluence of the Kialing and Yangtze Rivers.

Two Chinese were killed and four injured.

The planes dropped several bombs on a military aerodrome, 15 miles downstream from Chungking on the Yangtze, but it has not yet been possible to ascertain the amount of damage done.

It may be recalled that the new seat of the Central Chinese Government is 560 miles distant as the crow flies from the present Japanese front on the Yangtze.—Transocean.

CHINESE RAID ON TSIYUAN AT NIGHT

Several Japanese Field Guns Destroyed

UNIT AMBUSHED AT FENGMEKOW

Loyang, October 4.
Chinese troops on the north bank of the Yellow River subjected the Japanese forces at and around Tsiyuan to harassing attacks on Sunday.

The Chinese broke into the city of Tsiyuan at night, killing over 100 Japanese and destroying several Japanese field guns. However, they withdrew after the successful raid.

The Japanese garrison at Fehsiangchen, east of Tsiyuan, was also attacked. Closing in steadily, the Chinese slew more than 100 Japanese.

Hard-pressed, the Japanese tried to call in reinforcements from Neichiu, a town to the north. The latter were intercepted by the Chinese at Shihlichwang. Over 50 more Japanese were killed and four armoured cars destroyed.

A Japanese unit of about 500 men passing through Fengmekow, 20 kilometres east of Tsiyuan, on the same day was ambushed by Chinese troops.

More than forty Japanese lost their lives and a Japanese light machine-gun and 17 rifles were captured by the Chinese. The remnant Japanese retired to Wangwuchen to the west where they are besieged by the Chinese.—Central News.

NANCHANG, YUNGSHI, BAIDED
Nanchang, Oct. 4.
Nanchang and Yungshi, Kiangsi towns, were raided by Japanese planes yesterday.

Five machines broke into the city limits of Nanchang and dropped over ten bombs. Nineteen civilians were killed and wounded and more than 40 houses wrecked. Later, another squadron of Japanese planes flew over Yungshi, raining about 50 bombs near the east, west and south city gates. Over 40 houses were blown up, but only one civilian was wounded.—Central News.

SIG. G. CORA

Italian Envoy Leaving

CAME TO CHINA LAST YEAR

Shanghai, Oct. 4.

Signor G. Cora, Italian Ambassador in China, will bid farewell to Shanghai to-day when he leaves for Rome. The Italian envoy came to China in April last year at a time when Italian influence was at its height in Chinese military affairs.

It will be recalled that during the early part of his stay in Nanchang a number of Italian aviation experts arrived to offer their services to the National Government in an advisory capacity, and later an Italian plane was presented to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek as a mark of friendship between Italy and China.

DRAMATIC TURN

The outbreak of Sino-Japanese hostilities, followed by the formation of the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis led to a dramatic turn in Italy's policy in China, and it fell to Signor Cora's lot to convey to the Chinese Government in this respect.

Signor Cora's new post has not yet been announced by the Italian Government by he will be replaced in China in the near future by Marquis Ballani de Marchio, former Italian Minister to the Netherlands.—Reuter.

EXCITEMENT IN STREET BEHIND LEE GARDEN

Woman Uses Chopper On Her Own Furniture

Lee Yuen Street, a quiet working class residential section just behind the Lee Garden, Wanchai, was thrown into great excitement and confusion about 1 p.m. yesterday when an act of an eternal triangle drama was enacted in the ground floor of No. 51.

In the absence of their employers, the two amos on the premises were unpleasantly startled when, after admitting a female visitor whom they had never seen before, she proceeded to break up the furniture and other effects with a chopper.

Rushing wildly into the street, they blew their police whistles and attracted a large crowd to the scene. Police arrived and found the place in utter destruction, the entire flat having been turned into a shambles, while a well-dressed woman, allegedly responsible for the work, sat coolly in a corner and claimed her rights.

"ANOTHER WOMAN"
Questioned by pressmen, she stated that she had followed her husband from Canton on suspicion that there was "another woman." Ascertaining where he was staying, she had gone there yesterday morning with the intention of discussing the situation but there was no one there besides the servants.

She found, however, that all the furniture and other things which had belonged to her, before she left for Canton, had been removed from storage to the flat. Seized with a sudden uncontrollable impulse, she stated that she picked up a chopper and made "mince meat" of her legal property.

She was surprised that what only concerned her, as she said, should have drawn such a crowd. She told officers at the police station, where she subsequently went to clear up the affair, that she had every right to do as she pleased with her own effects.

Berlin, Oct. 4.

Figures published here to-day by the Reich Bureau of Statistics illustrate the success which has attended the systematic campaign waged in Germany against tuberculosis. Under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian Association, the Chinese National Women's Relief Association, the Chinese Women's Soldiers' Relief Association, and the Women's Section of the New Life Movement (H.K. Branch), a big open air meeting will be held on Hongkong Football Association ground, Happy Valley.

The chief item of the programme will be an impressive flag-hoisting ceremony, after which Madame Liap Chung-kai will address the gathering.

The Chinese General Chamber of Commerce and the newly-organised Hongkong Chinese Women's Association will also hold meetings.

GIRL TIED TO BEDSTEAD

MOTHER FINED IN COURT

"There is no excuse whatever for what you have done to your daughter," said Mr. Edwards at the Central Court yesterday when he convicted a woman, Ho Lai-ping, 35, on a charge of ill-treating a girl.

Inspector H. W. Fraser, of the S.C.A., said that the girl's wrists were tied with string and she was tied to a bedstead by a chain around her chest. The girl, aged only nine, managed to escape by biting through the cord and struggled from the chain. She ran into the street screaming and was bleeding. A constable took her to the S.C.A.

The defendant, who is the natural mother of the girl, said that her daughter constantly ran away from home and she had been advised to tie her up to avoid losing her. On this occasion she had used the money for rice to buy fritters.
A fine of $50, in default, two months' imprisonment was imposed.

Magistrate's Action Criticism In Crown Counsel's Submissions

Public Excluded From Preliminary Murder Hearing

MR. WHYATT AND THE PRESS

Criticism of the magistrate, Mr. R. Edwards' action to exclude the public from the preliminary hearing of a murder trial, was made by Crown Counsel, Mr. John Whyatt, at the Central Police Court yesterday.

The case was one in which a man, Li Man, was charged with the murder of Pun Shing at the Luen Hing Seamen's boarding house on August 4.

It will be recalled that on September 23 when Li Man appeared on formal remand, Mr. Edwards announced in Court that the public would be excluded from preliminary examination, with the exception of the Press.

On Friday, September 30, when Li Man again appeared for a date
to be fixed for the hearing, Mr.
Edwards gave reasons for his ruling. He then said that he exercised his discretion in the interests of the accused.

Prior to the commencement of the committal proceedings yesterday, Crown Counsel remarked that the action in barring the public was not only regarded as unusual, but revolutionary. He desired to make a submission in connection with the case, and requested the public be allowed in Court during his submission.

Mr. Whyatt said that his submission would have no bearing on the facts of the case.

"I fail to see why the doors of this Court should be bolted and barred while I am addressing this Court," he added.

Mr. Edwards refused the request.

NO SENSATION

In a lengthy submission, Mr.
Whyatt said that the magistrate's ruling would give cause to the public to assume, and in fact, some members of the public had assumed, that there were some sensational aspects or some elements of indecency in the case. In fact, he said, he himself alone in the Court would know that there were no signs of sensation in the case.

The magistrate's action was not the exercise of his judicial discretion, but of his general power. It was not a judicial discretion, said
Mr. Whyatt, because of the ignorance of the facts upon which the discretion should be based.

"It was to quote the words of the Lord Shaw, an impairment of right, which would be intolerable in a free country and I do not think it has any warrant in our law," said Counsel.

RIGHT OF PRESS

With regard to the exemption of the Press, Mr. Whyatt said that the Press have no more right to be present in Court than any members of the public. He quoted authorities which ruled that the Press were not exempted but privileged as a medium to enlarge the area of the Court, to communicate the hearing to the many who also have the right to be in Court. He quoted an authority, entitled
"Right of Judge to Exclude Press," which stated:—

"The judge of the Central Supreme Court resented certain criticism that had been published in a local newspaper concerning his exercise of the judicial office, ruled an order, in the absence of the proprietor, a registered company forbidding the reports of that newspaper and of another newspaper owned by the same company to sit at the reporters' desk,
or to take notes of the proceedings in this Court or elsewhere than in the public gallery, and directed that this restriction should remain in force until the printer and publisher of both newspapers should apologise to the Court."

Held: On appeal by the printer and publisher and by the company that representative of the newspaper Press have no greater right of access to the Supreme Court than ordinary member of the general public."

Mr. Whyatt regarded it, therefore, unusual to exclude the public whereas other members of the public be allowed to remain.

LACKED CLARITY

Commenting on the point "Press
Co-operation" as mentioned by Mr.
Edwards, Crown Counsel said that the term lacked a clarity and position of definition, which one was entitled to explain in judicial pronouncements.

"Does it mean that the Press should report only what the magistrate permits them to report?
Does it mean that the Press must suppress the report on the request of the magistrate, otherwise 'out they go'?" asked Mr. Whyatt.

"If it means that, and it is difficult to see what else it can mean, then it constitutes the suggestion of an insidious inroad into the liberty of the Press which has no warrant, for which there is no authority in English law," added Counsel.

PRICELESS INHERITANCE

Mr. Whyatt continued that when English justice is administered it must be administered in open Court. Every Court of justice is open to every subject of the King.
It is a constitutional right and constitutional liberty, and it is a priceless inheritance of the public.

"Where there was no publicity
there was no justice and publicity is justice," he said. The weight of open Court is of tremendous importance to the case—to justice.
And, he said, it needed a statute to do it, if a distinction was to be drawn between the public and the Press.

Barring the public from hearing the preliminary examination, while ignorant of the circumstances of the facts, is an exercise of power,
not of judicial discretion.

"It is a breach of the spirit of English jurisprudence, and it is a duty of the learned magistrate to interpret the jurisdiction of the English law in accordance with the spirit, and to conduct his case accordingly," Mr. Whyatt concluded.

Mr. Edwards will give judgment to-morrow afternoon.

COMMITTED TO SESSIONS

Cheng Shuet-wah, 23, was committed to stand trial at the Criminal Sessions by Mr. H. R.
Butters at the Central Court yesterday on two counts of inflicting previous bodily harm on a woman, Yung-Wai-ping.

Defendant was alleged to have pushed her in front of a moving vehicle at Kennedy Town praya on August 29.

TOLD TO POUR ACID ON WOMAN

Coolie's Evidence At Kowloon

That Ho Tai-po had told him
"I want you to pour this gasoline on her hair. The result will be that the colour of her hair will be changed to brown. Then it will fall out. She will return the money to me. This is a small matter—and I want you to help me," is translated into English, part of the evidence of Kwan Chap, coolie, the principal witness in the case against Ho, Shek Wai-kwan, and Li Lam, committal proceedings against whom were continued before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Court yesterday.

The first two defendants are charged with "counselling, procuring, or commanding Li Lam to cast or throw a corrosive fluid on Yu Tak-chen, with intent to burn, maim, or disfigure her," and Li Lam, an ex-soldier in the Canton
army, with throwing the fluid.

Kwan said that he had known the first defendant for five or six years. He received the bottle of "gasoline" from the second defendant, who pointed out to him the woman on whom the contents were to be poured.

Kwan explained that he opened the bottle and, having experience with acids, he immediately recognised the contents by the smell of the fumes.

As the crowd in the street was rather large, he managed to slip away from Shek. He took the bottle home.

On the insistence of Ho and Shek, he later returned the bottle to them. He had, however, poured out some of the acid, replacing it with water.

Further hearing of witnesses for the prosecution was adjourned to this afternoon.

THREE INCHES OF RAINFALL

For the 24 hours ended 10 p.m.
last night no less than 3.570 inches of rain fell, highest amount recorded being at 3 p.m., when there was nearly one inch.

Enquiries at the P.W.D. offices regarding the possibility of curtailment of water restrictions were met with the reply that nothing had been decided yet but it was possible. If the rainfall kept up for any length of time, that the hours of supply may be increased.

TYPHOON REPORT

The Royal Observatory reported yesterday afternoon that at 2 p.m.
the typhoon was about 50 miles east of Fort Bayard, moving northwest. It will probably enter the coast and start filling up.

Another typhoon is situated about 400 miles to the south-east of Manila, moving slowly westward.

CHINESE CONSTABLE ACCUSED

A Chinese constable, Yip Kampui, appeared together with Chan Chik and Li Ming, before Mr. Edwards at the Central Court yesterday charged with the possession of 21,800 Heroin pills in a house in First Street on September 28.

Mr. J. B. Prentis, Assistant Crown Solicitor, said on the day in question Revenue Officer J. L.
Stephens, accompanied by a party of revenue officers, raided the defendants' premises.

After part of the prosecution's evidence was heard, the further hearing of the case was adjourned until to-day at noon.

DISPUTE OVER DEATH OF DUCK

Hakkas Accused Of Assault

A dispute between the Hakka
and Hoklo farmers of Kowloon City over the death of a duck, at Chu Si Niu, on August 31, led to charges being brought against Mok Sheem, Yau Cheuk, and Lo Hing-kee, all Hakkas, of having assaulted the elderly Yim Hing-lee, a Hoklo farmer.

Hearing of the case commenced before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Court yesterday.

Mr. C. A. Sutherland Russ, appearing for Yim, stated that at 7 a.m., on August 31, a number of Hakkas had attacked Yim with wooden poles, necessitating a stay for the old man of eight days in hospital.

Mr. Russ explained that the cause of all the trouble was a luck-less fowl of Yim's, Ng Mok, who, while zealously driving off his master's property a flock of Hakka-owned ducks, had hit one too hard to permit of its rising again.

Members of the Kowloon City Hakka and Hoklo communities turned up in force to watch the proceedings.

One Hakka, who obviously considered himself unlucky in not being permitted to sit with the three Hakka defendants, sat down with them despite the presence on the Bench of an expensive-looking rainscoat. He sat down on the rainscoat. Much persuasion from his fellows eventually sent him away.

Mr. Russ called Yim and Ng to give evidence.

Mr. Yin-Shing Lo, cross-examining them, claimed that one of the three defendants was at Causeway Bay between 8 and 8 p.m. on August 31.

Further hearing of the case was remanded to next Tuesday.

LAWYER FINED

Mr. M. A. da Silva was fined $8
by Mr. H. R. Butters at the Central Court yesterday for parking his car in Duddell Street without a permit. Mr. C. D'Almada appeared for the defence and told the Court that defendant was not aware of the sign prohibiting parking in the street.

P. J. J. Neuhommer was fined $8
for a similar offence.

C. C. King was fined $5 for leaving his car over the time limit of two hours at the Chater Road car park.

KOWLOON CASES

Mr. A. Malcolm, of Malcolm and Co., appeared before Mr. Q. A. A.
Macfadyen at the Kowloon Court yesterday on two charges of driving a car without a licence permitting him to drive and driving at a speed in excess of 30 m.p.h.
in the controlled area of Kowloon on September 2.

Sergt. Bethell explained that Mr.
Malcolm had only come down from Canton on the day when he committed the offences. He had his licence renewed the next day.

Defendant was cautioned on the first charge and fined $8 on the second.

Mr. H. C. Clayton was fined $8 for driving without due care and caution in Gascoigne Road at 7.30 p.m., on September 11.

DYNAMITE IN FIREPLACE

Appearing before Mr. H. R.
Butters at the Central Court yesterday charged with the theft of 720 sticks of dynamite and 780
detonators, Tsang Ming, watchman, was given five months' hard labour.

The police went to a hut in Morrison Hill, and found the explosive kept in a fireplace, in front of which a fire was burning.

ENGINEER MANAGER AT CHATHAM

Engineer Captain G. B. Allen, hitherto Chief Engineer at Sheerness, has taken up the post of Engineer Manager at Chatham Dockyard in succession to Engineer Rear-Admiral H. H. Perrins, C.B., who is retiring after 33 years' commissioned service.

Engineer Captain Allen was promoted in December, 1934, when Assistant to the Engineer Manager at Malta, and has been at Sheerness for nearly three years. He served afloat during the War as engineer lieutenant in the battle-cruiser Indomitable and the destroyer Lydiard, and his subsequent ships have included the battleships Barham and Warspite and the aircraft-carrier Courageous.

He has also served on the staff at Keyham College and in the Engineer-in-Chief's Department, Admiralty.

CRUISER STRENGTH

With the completion of the Liverpool, the total of British cruisers on the effective list is brought up to 59. This excludes the Coventry and Curlew, converted to anti-aircraft ships, and the Vindictive, which has been semi-litigated and has only two 4-in. guns for training purposes.

Of the 59, there are 21 which are over the age limit; four are of War types but are still within the age limit, as they were deferred in completion; and 34 are of post-War types. Including the Hobart and Tasmania, which are being transferred to Australia, there are eight cruisers in the Dominion Navies, leaving 51 on the list of the Royal Navy—20 over the age limit and 31 under-age.

There are 22 cruisers building. The Gloucester (1935 programme) should be finished before the end of the year. The seven authorized in 1936 were laid down by October, 1937, and two (Belfast and Edinburgh) have been launched. The seven authorized in 1937 were laid down by July, 1938, and the first should be launched in December.

The seven authorized in 1938 have not yet been laid down but contracts for three were awarded in August.

The Old Colours of the 2nd Battalion, Grenadier Guards, were laid up in St. Paul's Cathedral on Sunday. The battalion, with the band of the Regiment, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel F. A. M. Browning, D.S.O., and a contingent of old members of the Regiment, marched from Wellington Barracks via Birdcage Walk, Admiralty Arch, Trafalgar Square, Strand, Fleet Street, and Ludgate Hill, to St. Paul's Cathedral.

COMMISSIONS IN THE R.A.M.C.

Applications from medical men for appointment to commissions in the Royal Army Medical Corps are invited by the War Office. Candidates will be selected for commissions without competitive examination and will be required to present themselves in London for physical examination and interview on or about October 21.

They must be registered under the Medical Acts and normally must not be over the age of 28 years.

Successful candidates will, in the first instance, be given short service commissions for five years.

During the fourth year of this period they will be given the opportunity of applying for permanent commissions in either the Royal Army Medical Corps or the Indian Medical Service. Those not selected will retire on completion of five years' service with a gratuity of £1,000.

Full particulars of the conditions of service and emoluments, also forms of application, may be obtained on application, either by letter or in person, to the Assistant Director-General, Army Medical Services, The War Office, London, S.W. 1.

Dettling has been placed in the Bomber Command in No. 6 (Auxiliary) Group. No aerodrome facilities will be available until after the arrival of No. 500 Squadron. The nearest railway station is Maldstone, four miles distant.

INDIA HEADQUARTERS MOVE

Headquarters of the R.A.F. in India will move from Simla to New Delhi on October 11. On and after October 6 all ordinary correspondence is to be addressed to the Imperial Secretariat, South Block, New Delhi, India. Urgent correspondence and signals will be dealt with at Simla up to October 11.

EMERGENCY AXES IN AIRCRAFT

It is announced in Air Ministry Orders that provision is being made to stow a fireman's axe in the larger types of aircraft. The use of an axe has found to be the simplest and most effective weapon for breaking through metal panels and other types of fuselage coverings.

The axe is for use in the event of a crash or similar circumstances, when the normal exits provided are found to be unusable. Commanding officers concerned are directed to explain to the personnel which portions of the cabin or fuselage can be most readily broken through.

When this is not self-evident the most suitable areas are to be outlined in black or yellow.

Scientist Denies Blame For Modern War Horror

Scientists were vigorously defended against the charge that they were responsible for the horrors of modern warfare because their discoveries were often put to destructive uses, by Lord Rayleigh in his presidential address to the British Association at Cambridge recently.

The whole idea that scientific men were specially responsible was a delusion born of imperfect knowledge of the real course of the process of discovery, he said, and pointed out that chlorine was discovered 140 years before the Great War, while mustard gas was known as far back as 1894.

Lord Rayleigh also claimed that discoveries and inventions were usually made many years prior to their exploitation for military purposes, and that the men who made them had no thought of war.

The great difficulty of foreseeing how fundamental discoveries in science might be applied to purposes of war made it impossible to control discovery at the source.

"For good or ill," he added, "the urge to explore the unknown is deep in the nature of some of us, and it will not be deterred by possible contingent results."

The British Association was considering setting up a division for the study of the social relations of science which would attempt to shed light upon vexed questions.

DEVELOPMENT OF FRIGHTFULNESS

During the Great War, continued Lord Rayleigh, few scientific men in any country doubted that it was their duty to do what they could to apply their specialised knowledge to the purpose of war, and to-day it was chiefly in vague general discussions that the opposite view became vocal.

Science, it was urged, was the source of all the trouble.

Discussing how far the development of frightfulness into modern high explosives was deliberate or not, Lord Rayleigh said high explosives—since the discovery of dynamite in 1863—had been too long in use in peaceful industry, such as mining, for their misuse to be laid directly to the account of science.

Dealing with poison gas, he recalled that Phry was destroyed by sulphur dioxide from Vesuvius in A.D. 79 and that—

The veteran Admiral, Lord Dunsford, urged that the fumes of burning sulphur should be used in the Crimean War.

That suggestion was not adopted, but even if it had, scientific research would obviously have had little to do with the matter.

SWING YOUR LADY

"Swing Your Lady," a Warner Bros. farce-comedy dealing with life among the hillbillies of the Ozarks, will have its opening at the Queen's Theatre to-day. The story is of a champion wrestler and his entourage who get stranded in a hill hamlet. The wrestler, to get them out, has to take on a match with a local "ground-scurflier," and this battle is said to be one of the funniest things thrown on a screen this season. The wrestling champ is none other than Nat Pendleton, the actor who at one time held the Olympic heavyweight title, and the hillbilly is Dan Boone Savage. Humphrey Bogart plays Pendleton's manager, Frank McHugh is his trainer, Penny Singleton is Bogart's heart-interest, Louise Fazenda is a lady blacksmith, and the famed vaudeville team of the Weaver Brothers and Elvira are hillbillies.

STAR DUST

Fay Bainter is to do one film for M-G-M. They have given her a choice between The Shining Hour, in which she would play Joan Crawford's stern spinster sister-in-law, and Dramatic School, with Lulie Rainer.

Rouben Mamoulian, who hasn't directed a picture since High, Wide and Handsome, is preparing Murder in Massachusetts for Columbia. He may also direct Danielle Darrieux in Rio.

Otto Kruger has had to turn down an offer to play on the London stage and also delay the next of his Associated British films, because of his part in Hollywood in "Thanks for the Memory."

M-G-M have bought the rights to Beau Brummel from Warners, who starred John Barrymore in it. M-G-M plan to use it for Robert Donat in England.

Carl Esmond has been under contract to M-G-M without making a picture. He has now been released and will play his first "heavy," one of the German flyers in Warners' "Dawn Patrol."

Irving Asher is to produce for Columbia at Denham on a large scale. The first Columbia Denham production will be Q Planes. It goes into immediate production, with Laurence Olivier and Ralph Richardson in the leading parts and Tim Whelan directing.

Michael Balcon's second production at A.T.P., "The Ware Case," will have in the cast, besides the star Clive Brook, Jane Baxter, Barry K. Barnes, Peter Bull, Glyn Alyn, C. V. France, Edward Rieby, Godfrey Tearle, Athene Sevier, Ernest Thesiger, Frank Cellier and John Laurie.

Another Chance For Isa Miranda At Paramount

Robert Montgomery in a Spencer Tracy part sounds surprising. Not so very perhaps, in view of Tracy's rapidly softening side and Robert's successful bid for sterner things, writes a film correspondent.

Anyway, Montgomery is to "do" The Earl of Chicago. David Selznick bought it and wanted Tracy. Couldn't get him so sold the story to M-G-M who own Tracy and Montgomery. All about a gangster who settles among the English lords and ladies, so it should be light, if strong, for Montgomery.

NOT LOMBARD

Janet Gaynor, not Carole Lombard is the "big feminine star" likely to head Myron Selznick's next co-operative production unit. Janet works for her brother David but on no very fast-binding terms. If Janet Gaynor Productions Inc. materialises, its first picture will be called Forever.

Contrary to her sweet and yielding appearance, Janet's known to be one of Hollywood's sharpest business-women. Is generally believed to have saved more money than any other star.

ANOTHER CHANCE

Isa Miranda will get another chance at Paramount. They're taking Hotel Imperial off its shelves again and giving her one more try.

This one was a silent with Pola Negri. Was then to be a Lubitsch-Dietrich effort, three years ago. After grandiose expenditure, Dietrich refused. Margaret Sullivan was then to do it, but broke her arm. Isa Miranda has been at Paramount many months since coming from Italy. Was to star in Zaza but gave way to Colbert owing, according to mixed rumours, to illness, accident or quarrels with Nazimova.

STARS OF NOTABLE MUSICAL

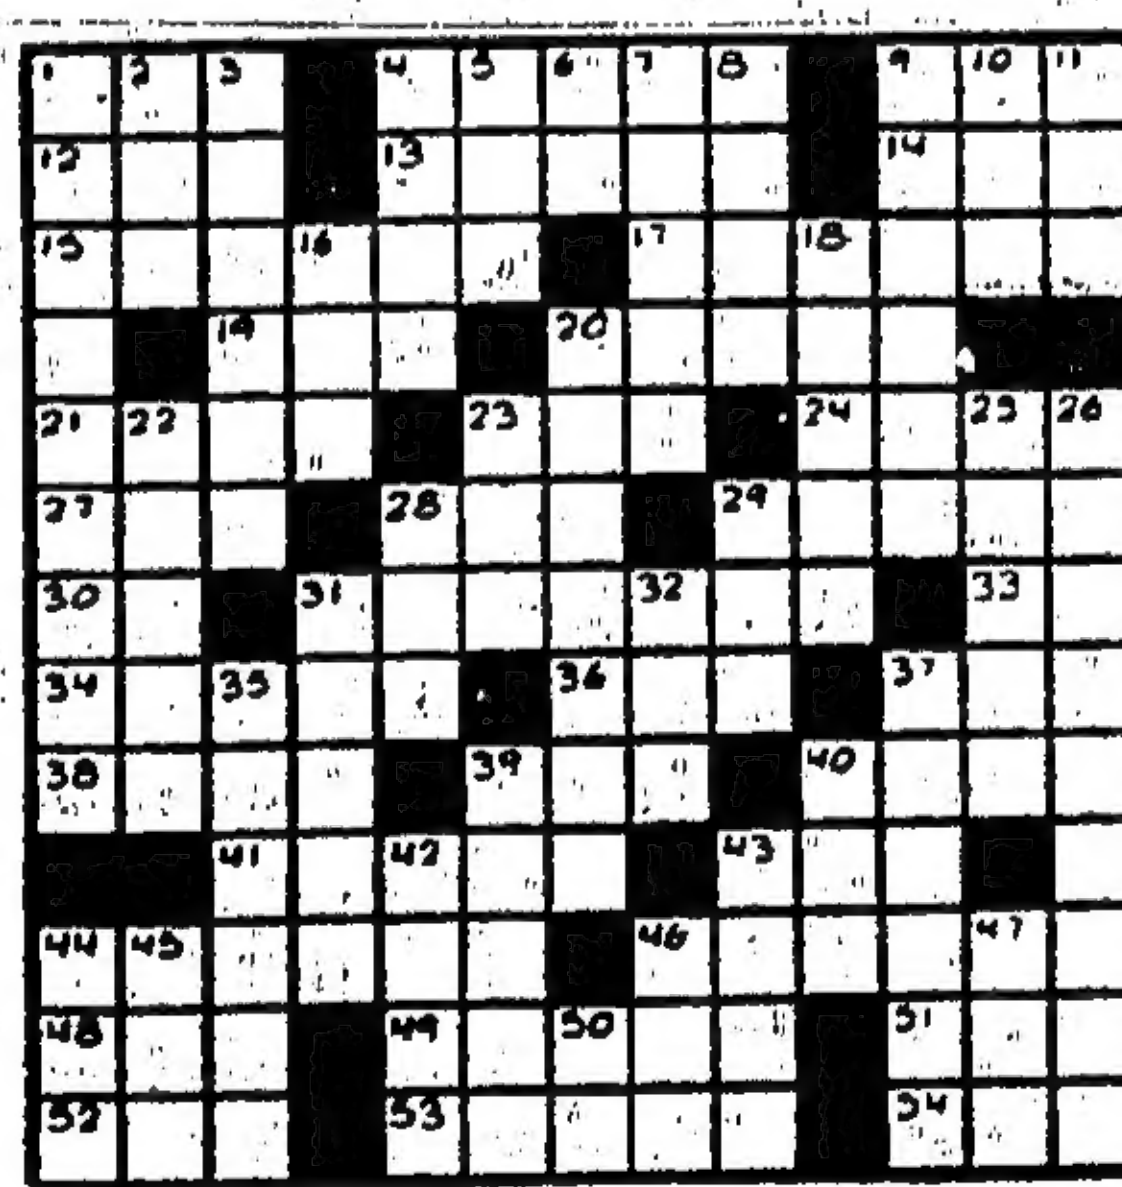

Bobby Clark and Ella Logan are seen above in an incident in "The Goldwyn Follies," Samuel Goldwyn's lavish Technicolor production, which opens on Saturday at the King's Theatre.

CHAMBERLAIN FACES HOSTILE COMMONS-POLICY UNDER FIRE

Mr. Duff Cooper Explains His Resignation

War Peril Past But Peace Not Established

London, October 4. THERE WAS NOTHING OF THE CONQUERING HERO ATMOSPHERE around Mr. Neville Chamberlain when he rose to speak in the House of Commons yesterday. Mr. Duff Cooper, who has resigned as First Lord of the Admiralty, in striking not merely a discordant note but actually accusing the Prime Minister of an unrealistic policy, heartened the Opposition and stirred up doubters on the Ministerial side.

From the first Mr. Chamberlain faced an Opposition already roused and had behind him that almost intangible chilliness which afflicts Government majorities when there are doubters in the ranks.

His speech was delivered mostly in silence or to the accompaniment of ironical cheers or substantial but not too universal bursts of Ministerial cheers. Only when the Opposition attempted to taunt Mr. Chamberlain did his followers arise to a man in his support.

"When we gathered here last Wednesday we sat under the shadow of an imminent menace," declared Mr. Chamberlain. "To-day we all join in thankfulness that the prayers of millions have been answered. Upon members of the Cabinet the strain and responsibility of the last few weeks has been almost overwhelming. Some of us will carry marks of it for the rest of our days."

The Prime Minister continued with an analysis of the position when the Munich Conference began and added that time was the essential factor.

"All the elements were present at that spot for an outbreak which might have precipitated a catastrophe, and it was essential, therefore, that the members should reach a conclusion and that this painful and difficult operation of transferring the Sudeten areas should be carried out at the earliest possible moment."

Mr. Chamberlain then proceeded to compare the terms put forward by Germany at Godesberg, which were rejected by the Czech Government, and the terms of the agreement signed at Munich.

ORDER VERSUS VIOLENCE

"It is on the difference between these two documents that will depend the judgment whether we were successful in what we set out to do—namely to find an orderly instead of a violent method of carrying out an agreed decision."

"The Godesberg memorandum, though cast in the form of proposals, was in fact an ultimatum with a time limit."

"On the other hand the Munich Agreement reverted to the Anglo-French plan and laid down conditions for the application on the responsibility of the Four Powers and under international supervision, of the main principle of that memorandum."

"Every fair and serious minded man or woman who takes into consideration the modifications of the memorandum must agree that they are of very considerable extent."

"To those who disliked the ultimatum and were anxious for a reasonable and orderly procedure every one of those modifications was a step in the right direction."

"In giving a verdict on this issue we should be well advised to avoid describing it as a personal or national triumph for anybody."

CATASTROPHE AVERTED

"The real triumph is that it has shown that the representatives of the Four Powers can find it possible to agree on a way to carry out a difficult and delicate operation by discussion instead of with loss of life, and thus they averted a catastrophe which would have ended civilisation as we know it."

"The relief at our escape from this peril has been mingled with a profound feeling of sympathy for a small and gallant nation in the hour of their national grief and loss."

"In the name of this House and the people of this country I say that Czechoslovakia has earned our admiration and respect for her restraint and magnificent discipline in the face of such a trial as few nations have been called upon to meet." (Cheers.)

NO SHAME

During his speech Mr. Chamberlain was subject to considerable interruption from the Labour benches and amid prolonged Ministerial cheers the cry of "Shame" was hurled back at the Opposition side.

"I have nothing to be ashamed of," declared Mr. Chamberlain. "We have received from the Czech Government an appeal to help raise a loan of thirty million pounds to be guaranteed by the British Government."

"The British Government is forming the Czech Government that we are prepared to immediately arrange for the advance of ten million pounds which will be put at the Czech Government's disposal for their urgent needs."

"Hard things have been said about the German Chancellor to-day and in the past, but I think that to-night the House ought to recognise that it is difficult for a man in that position to take back such an emphatic declaration as he had already made and consenting at the last moment to discuss with representatives of other Powers those things which he had already decided once and for all. It was a real and substantial contribution to peace."

MUSSOLINI'S CONTRIBUTION

"Signor Mussolini's contribution was certainly notable, too, and perhaps decisive."

"Europe and the world has reason to be grateful for the work of the Italians, which contributed to a peaceful solution. It was they who, very early in the proceedings, produced a memorandum which M. Daladier and I were able to accept as a basis of discussion."

"M. Daladier's courage and readiness to take responsibility, his pertinacity and unfailing good humour were invaluable during the whole discussion."

UNITED STATES' ATTITUDE

Referring to the United States, Mr. Chamberlain said that the messages so firmly and persuasively made by President Roosevelt showed that the views of the most powerful nation in the world could make themselves heard, across 3,000 miles of ocean to the minds of men in Europe.

"The greatest force—one which took fresh shapes and grew every day—was not the force of one individual. It was the unmistakable and sensible unanimity among the peoples of the world that war must be averted and the realisation that the peoples of the British Empire were at one with those of Germany and France, and that their anxiety and tension and intense desire for peace pervaded the whole atmosphere of the Conference."

"I acknowledge the encouragement and good wishes I received from the Dominions Governments."

PACIFICATION OF EUROPE

"Ever since I assumed my present position my main purpose has been to work for the pacification of Europe."

"To remove the suspicions and animosities which have so long poisoned the air has been my desire. The path that leads to appeasement bristles with obstacles. The question of Czechoslovakia is the latest, and was perhaps the most dangerous. Now that we have got past that it might be possible to make further progress on the road to sanity."

"In my conversations with Herr Hitler last Friday I entered into no pact and made no new commitments. There is no secret understanding and our conversation was hostile to no other nation."

"The object of that conversation, for which Herr Hitler asked, was to try and extend a little the contact he had with me, for this contact I consider essential in modern diplomacy—a contact in a friendly and entirely non-committal conversation carried on in my part largely with a view to seeing if there could be found points in common between the heads of the democratic Governments and the leader of a totalitarian state."

POSITIVE EFFORT FOR PEACE

"If there is one lesson we should learn from the events of the past week it is that lasting peace is not to be attained by sitting round and waiting for it. It requires an active and positive effort."

"I am too much of a realist to believe we shall achieve our paradise in a day. We have only laid the foundation of peace and the superstructure has not yet been begun. No one can think that because we have signed this agreement at Munich we can afford to relax our efforts or call a halt in the programme of rearmament at this moment."

"If disarmament is to come it must come by steps and with the agreement and active co-operation of other countries."

"It is to such tasks—winning back confidence and the gradual removal of hostilities between nations until they can feel they can safely discard their weapons one by one—that I wish to devote what energy and time may be left to me before I hand over my office to a younger man."—Reuter.

FIRST LORD EXPLAINS

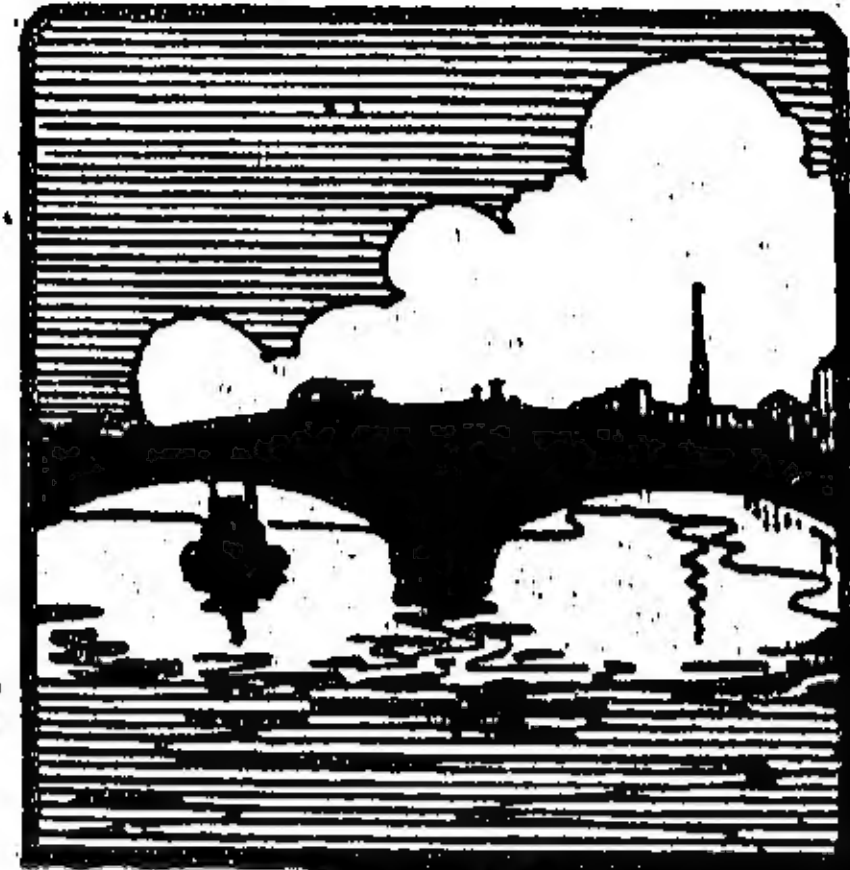

London, Oct. 4.

Mr. Alfred Duff Cooper, First Lord of the Admiralty, was cheered by Opposition members when he rose in Parliament yesterday to explain his resignation from the Cabinet.

He declared that British foreign policy should be made plain to other countries. This, in the recent crisis, the Government had failed to do.

"We were drifting day by day into a war with Germany," he said. "We never said until the last moment, and then in an uncertain fashion, that we were prepared to fight. Yet we know that information to the opposite effect was being poured into the ears of the German leaders."

"The Government did not use language which dictators understand. The language used by the Prime Minister and Sir John Simon meant nothing to persons with a mentality like that of Herr Hitler or Signor Mussolini."

Mr. Duff Cooper charged the Prime Minister with not making the British position plain when he visited Herr Hitler at Berchtesgaden.

HITLER'S ULTIMATUM

"When the British Government did send a message stating its attitude, that message contained at least three qualifying clauses. When at last Herr Hitler began to show signs of relaxing his position he already knew of the mobilisation of the British Fleet."

"All the British Government received in return for its 'sweet reasonableness' was the Berchtesgaden ultimatum."

"Later, the Prime Minister returned from Godesberg with nothing but the German Memorandum, couched in terms which only a cruel and revengeful enemy could dictate to a beaten foe after a long war."

"Only the mobilisation of the British Fleet convinced Herr Hitler that Britain would fight. I tried to swallow the Munich terms but they stuck in my throat."

"The German Government, having got their man down, was not to be deprived of the pleasure of kicking him and the German Army was not to be deprived of its loot."

Referring to the Anglo-German declaration, Mr. Duff Cooper said that for Mr. Chamberlain to sign this without consulting his Cabinet colleagues, his allies, the Dominions or without the assistance of expert diplomatic advisers was not the way foreign affairs of the Empire should be conducted.

"For the first time we are committed to defend a frontier in central Europe. That being so we should now maintain an army on a continental basis; we should quicken the rearmament scheme on a broader basis."

"Mr. Chamberlain believes he can come to a reasonable settlement of all outstanding questions with Herr Hitler."

"He may be right. I hope and pray he is, but as I cannot believe that, it is better I should go."—Reuter.

400 ATTEND BRILLIANT CHINESE WEDDING

Spectacle Of Fashion At Hongkong Hotel

Millionaire's Daughter Married To Banker

By Rosette

Political figures, socialites, millionaires and millionairesses rubbed shoulders in the Grill-Room of the Hongkong Hotel yesterday afternoon when the wedding of Miss Fok Wing-ye, seventh daughter of Mr. Fok Chi-ting, multi-millionaire philanthropist, to Mr. Ku Chung-shui, was solemnised before a gathering that totalled over 400 people. The Hon. Sir Shouson Chow officiated.

Their engagement party was exclusively reported in the "Daily Press" recently and yesterday's culmination of the romance provided a function that was even more brilliant.

The Grill-Room was glitteringly decorated. A huge white wedding bell was hung at the end of the room, with two beautifully twisted chains of white flowers forming an arch. Behind the wedding bell was the alcove adorned with flower-baskets from which delicate fragrance filled the atmosphere.

The dance floor presented a piquant appearance, taking on the unusual guise of a church, with rows of chairs on either side leaving a clear passage for the aisle.

A beautiful wedding cake dominated the other end of the room, presenting a stately spectacle, reaching nearly to the ceiling.

EXQUISITE DAININESS

The bride looked enchanting on the arm of her husband as she gracefully stepped up the aisle, presenting a figure of exquisite daintiness in a silver lame gown with a white satin train. Her radiant face was partly revealed and partly covered by the droop of her veil. A bunch of orange blossoms nestled on her raven black hair.

A sparkling and shimmering diamond necklace was coiled round her throat. She carried a bouquet of white, arum lilies.

She was attended by four beautiful bridesmaids, her two younger sisters, and the Misses Yu and Ngai. Two of them were in delightful pink gowns with trailing skirts cut on princess lines, with pink sashes and pink garlands fringing their necks. The other two looked equally charming in pale-green organdie with red flowers encircling their throats and as trimmings to their skirts. They all wore wide-brimmed lace hats with posies of many hues.

THE SPEECHES

Sir Shouson Chow, in performing the ceremony, made a speech praising the happy young couple and at the same time eulogising Mr. Fok Chi-ting's many charitable acts. Amongst others who made speeches were the Hon. Sir Robert Kotewall, Messrs. T. V. Soong, Liang Sing-yik, K. C. Yip, Au Fong-po, Shum Choy-yu, Tang Min-yan, Chu Ka-po and Li Ku-chue.

At Madame Soong's table we could see Mrs. Eu Tong-sen in a floral dress, Mrs. Fung Ping-fan in a beautiful black satin, with flowers, Mrs. Rose Chou, also in a floral gown, and Mrs. Kan Tong-po, while Madame Soong herself was arrayed in a dazzling gown of printed satin.

Mrs. Arthur Woo, in an embroidered dress, was with Mrs. Clara Hong Sing, who looked chic in a white satin frock; in their company were Mrs. T. F. Lo, in a dress with stylish grey trimming and Mrs. Rose Tsang in a mauve printed dress adorned with a bunch of violets.

For earrings, Mrs. Tsang used the same flowers. This was the first time we have seen velvet flowers used for that purpose here and the general result was most effective. This may well set a new fashion locally.

RED AND WHITE DOTS

Miss Anne Tse, well-known artist and commonly known as "Sister Annie" in Madame Soong's circle, was with Mrs. Shek, both being dressed in the same manner, in black, with red and white dots. Miss Marie Chang, younger sister of Madame Soong, and popular member of the younger set, looked superb in a dress of pastel shades.

Adding most to the splendour of the wedding were the women members of the Fok and Ku families, who were gaily arrayed in "kwa's"—red broadcloth skirts and black embroidered coats. Jewels decorating the ladies' hair, arms, fingers and throats were well worth a prince's ransom.

Other prominent guests included Mr. To Yuet-seng, Mr. Wu Tse-chung, brother of Governor Wu Teh-chen, Mr. Pui Cho-ye, Mr. Eu Tong-sen, Mr. Tang Shui-kin, Mr. Mok Kon-sang, Hon. Mr. M. K. Lo, Mr. Li Koon-chun, Mr. Kan Tong-po, Mr. Li Tse-fong, Mr. Koek Chin, Mr. K. C. Tsang, Mr. T. F. Lo, Mr. Hui Sai-ying.

The eldest son of the late Mr. Tang Shao-yih, Mr. Tang Liu, upon learning of his father's death, together with his mother and family, has left Changsha for Shanghai. The late Mr. Tang's body will be buried in Chungshan district.

TRAINING CLASS DIPLOMAS

Eighty graduates of the "Propagators' Training Class for National Works" will receive their diplomas in a ceremony at the Confucius Hall, Caroline Hill, on Sunday, October 9.

The graduates of the "Training School" have undergone an intensive course of training to fit them for work in aid of the Chinese Army at the front and of refugees. The boys and girls have been taught the art of acting in dramas, thus enabling them to help in the teaching the common people and in the raising of money for relief purposes.

The "Training Class," formed some months ago under the auspices of five of the more notable Hongkong Chinese Women's Societies, owes its success in a large measure to the untiring efforts of Madame Tam, Chairman of the Hongkong Chinese Women's Soldiers' Relief Association.

FLITTING FIGURES IN CELLOPHANE

Or Fashions In The Rain

BY "JUPITER"

ALL PROSPECTS OF ANY SPORT having been washed out by the rain, I strolled about town yesterday afternoon, indulging in a new form of pastime—studying fashions in the rain. From the point of a mere man it was very amusing, but if readers think they are going to hear what an expert on things feminine has to say, then they are doomed to disappointment.

For one thing I am no expert on ladies' fashions and for another what I have to say is—well, you must not take it all too seriously.

THE FIRST THING I bumped into was by the Hongkong Hotel corner—an ultra-modern Chinese Miss, in the short-slit dress that is quite the rage now, and one of those cellophane "coverlets" they are pleased to call a raincoat. We used to call them Gaby de Lys or form at a glance. This one was "apple green"—with big white flowers dotted all over the place. This lady carried herself so well that the raincoat showed up to decidedly good advantage. Oh no, I did not notice the colour of her toe nails!

The next figure was swathed in a flowing "mac" of flaming red. This, I presume, was a little out of date as it was of that "rubberised" material, and I haven't seen these for some time. But of course, being a mere man, I may be wrong.

THE PIERCE DE RESISTANCE, I thought, was a cape, with umbrella to match, so thin and fine that you hardly noticed it. And the lady who wore this must have known it too for she was flapping about like an angel. They tell me that very soon we will have the fair sex coming out with something bolder. If only that day would come round soon!

AND WHAT OF THE MEN? It was the same old story. Those who dared venture out in the unconventional shorts looked very comfortable though the sight of so many scraggy knees about town must have proved unpleasant to the Mother Grindles who seem to thrive on going about, finding fault with all and sundry.

I saw a chubby-faced subaltern, looking so sweet in his green porkpie hat, with umbrella to match. Earlier in the day I espied a well-known local figure, not a "tiny" one either, entering an office building, coat in arm, looking very busy.

The R.A.M.C. Association annual dinner will take place at the Hotel Cecil on Saturday, October 15. Assembly at 8 p.m., dinner at 8.30. All those desirous of attending kindly inform the Hon. Secretary, Military Hospital, Bowen Road, as early as possible.

"RED" CHINA

THE JAPANESE FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN and other Tokyo apologists are still making desperate efforts to convince a sceptical world that her "Holy War" in China is inspired by a sincere desire to eliminate Communism from East Asia. Actually, it is sober truth that China today is more "red" than she was twelve months ago but red with the blood of slaughtered women and children. She has not, however, changed in the sense that Japan would have the world believe.

When the "Hitler Youth" Mission visited Japan in August last, Prince Konoye, the Japanese Premier, asserted that "Japan is not fighting the Chinese masses but the Central Government and its maladministration based on Communism." It is unfortunate that the "Hitler Youth" Mission, on its way to Japan, did not spend a few days in China to ascertain the truth about the matter. German merchants in Shanghai, through their Chamber of Commerce, would have made it quite clear to the visitors that, in their opinion, the true motive of Japan's invasion of China is to monopolize the latter country's trade to the exclusion of all others, by slamming the Open Door.

THE HELP GIVEN BY SOVIET RUSSIA in the form of aeroplanes, pilots and supplies of munitions is being gratefully accepted by China, just as the assistance of other sympathetic Powers, such as the late German Military Mission and German munitions, is being received but there is no understanding—either written, spoken or implied—that the acceptance of Soviet material assistance calls for any acceptance of Russian political principles any more than they imply the acceptance of Nazi-ism as a political creed for China simply because the German Military Mission gave its assistance to China.

Whatever differences of opinion there may have been between the Kuomintang and the Communists in China prior to the summer of 1937, the immediate reaction was to sink all differences and disputes in the face of grave external danger. Unity was brought about by Japan's acts of aggression. The Chinese people, as a whole, are not disposed to look with favour upon Communist teachings. They are conservative in their outlook and entirely individualistic.

"Fortunately for China, it has been impossible to exclude foreigners from seeing much of what has gone on during the progress of the Sino-Japanese hostilities. Given 'friendly warnings' to withdraw from the war zones, owing to the danger to which they might be exposed, European and American missionaries, teachers, doctors and business men and women have declined to take this obvious hint. They have remained where they were lawfully entitled to be and taken the risks involved in order to carry on their work as best they can.

AIR MAIL FOR AMERICA

To Be Sent By Imperial Route

In view of the disruption of the trans-Pacific air service due to unfavourable weather conditions, the Postmaster General has decided, under the discretionary powers vested in him, to dispatch all air mail in his hands intended for Canada or the United States by Imperial Airways to London, and thence by steamer to New York. This mail should be in New York about October 18 or 19.

Air mail for America which left by Clipper planes on September 23 and October 2 were held up respectively at Guam and Manila, but is being transhipped back to the Colony by the a.s. Potsdam, arriving on Friday.

The next Clipper plane to leave the Colony for the United States on the resumed schedule will be on October 13.

NEW VAUXHALL CAR

TWELVE-FOUR IN COLONY SOON

Yet another addition is to be made to the already famous range of Vauxhall cars, and is shortly to be seen in the Colony. This model is a larger and more comfortable edition of the "Ten."

It has the same type of independent front wheel suspension with torsion bars, and the same method of unit construction of frame and body in one is employed, giving an exceptionally good power-to-weight ratio. In motor car design, this ratio is very important as so much depends upon it.

If the power-to-weight ratio is good, the owner will get good acceleration, good hill climbing and economical running. A top speed of over 65 m.p.h. and more than 35 miles to the gallon are claimed. It can be testified from a short trial run that the engine is as smooth and silent as a six cylinder and also that the body is roomy and comfortable.

Normally, a large roomy body means extra weight and hence sluggish acceleration. The new Twelve-four is exceptional in that its designers have succeeded in overcoming this.

The Twelve-four engine develops 40 Brake horse power, yet the complete car weighs only 184 cwt. with a full complement of petrol, oil and water.

These qualities have been achieved not just by one, but by a number of major improvements in motor car design. By interesting developments in motor car design, Vauxhall engineers have got more and smoother power out of every ounce of petrol.

By using all steel integral methods of construction, they have been able to give you a big and roomy body without any sacrifice of performance. The new Vauxhall Twelve-four costs less to buy and less to run than any other Twelve.

ATTEMPT AGAIN FOILED

An interesting "passenger" on board the troopship Lancashire, which arrived here yesterday, is Mrs. I. Davies, wife of Sergeant Davies, of the Seaforth Highlanders.

Mrs. Davies' claim to notice lies in the fact that she has once again been foiled in her attempts to re-join her husband whom she has seen on only three days since their marriage.

They had thought they would re-join in Hongkong, but the Seaforths have been ordered back to Shanghai and Mrs. Davies, who is a Queen's Army Schoolmistress, is to take up duties at the military school in Stanley.

SEQUEL TO BRAWL

It will be recalled that on the afternoon of September 24, a soldier, a prostitute, and a taxi-cab driver were involved in a brawl at the junction of Nathan Road and Jordan Road.

At the Kowloon Court yesterday, Mr. K. M. A. Barnett sentenced the prostitute, Chan Chau, 18, to one month's hard labour, ordered her to pay $5 amends, and recommended her for banishment.

The taxi-driver, Tsui Shu, 31, was fined $5. Signalman C. P. Croston, the taxi-driver, and one of the witnesses were bound over in a sum of $10 to keep the peace for ten months.

LOYAL EIGHTH ROUTE ARMY

Hankow, Oct. 4. According to Mr. Chow En-lai, chief political director of the 8th Route Army, who has just returned here from a trip to north Shenai, leaders of the Army had a conference at Yanan recently when they pledged their unwavering support to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to continue armed resistance to Japan.—Central News.

SHAI COLLEGES SUSPENDED

Order By French Authorities

Hankow, Oct. 4. The Fuh Tan, Great China and Utopia Universities in the French Concession, Shanghai, were ordered to suspend classes by the French authorities on October 2, according to a Shanghai report. The reason for the suspension has not been given, but it is believed to be of a political nature.

The National Chunan University has also been ordered to suspend classes by the French authorities for participating in the "Offer Gold" movement on September 18, the seventh anniversary of the Mukden Incident.

All the above-mentioned institutions moved to the interior after their premises in Chinese territory were either occupied or destroyed, during the hostilities in Shanghai last year, but they have been maintained in the French Concession for students who could not go inland.—Central News.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM WAR

U.S. PART IN CRISIS

Washington, Oct. 4. Mr. Sumner Wells, Assistant Secretary of State, said in a broadcast yesterday that President Roosevelt's special appeal to Mussolini over the Czech crisis was known in substance to the Italian Government before it Duce telephoned to Hitler.

Mr. Wells added that the United States had received information of unquestioned authenticity that 2 o'clock on the afternoon of September 29 had been fixed for German entry into Czechoslovakia. He added that there was no question but that Europe was on the brink of war.

The great underlying needs were world-wide agreements to limit armaments, to abstain from bombing civilians and to reconstruct economic prosperity.

To-day perhaps more than at any time in the past two decades there was an opportunity for establishment by the nations of a new world order based on justice and law.—Reuter.

MISSING PLANE LOCATED

The terrain at these points, which are situated in the Taipei range, will make their advance difficult.

A part of them are said to have moved northward to Kwangshan where they will attempt to drive westward to cut the Peiping-Hankow Railway.—Central News.

MISS FREDA UTLEY GIVES BEFORE ROTARY MEETING

Author Does Not Advocate War Against Japan, But Urges Economic Pressure

AMERICA MORE INTERESTED IN CHINA'S SUFFERINGS

"The babies, children and women whom I have seen dead, would never have suffered if we had not supplied the Japanese with oil, iron, steel, aeroplanes and chemicals. We should discontinue to supply Japan with her needs for causing destruction in her ruthless war of aggression. Why do we do on helping Japan?" We know by now that she wants to drive us out of China.

"If we do not care for our treaty obligations, if we do not care for the ocean of misery and pain the Japanese have created in China, don't we care for our trade and investments?"

"I do not advocate war against Japan, but economic pressure. America would co-operate. They are much more interested in China's sufferings than we are, as seen by the large amount of American news correspondents at the various fronts compared to the number of correspondents of British and other journals."

The above striking remarks were made by Miss Freda Utley, well-known author of "Japan's Feet of Clay" and "Japan's Gamble in China," in the course of an address before the Hongkong Rotary Club at their weekly tiffin held in the Roof Garden of the Hongkong Hotel yesterday. The occasion was Ladies' Day and there was a capacity attendance.

Miss Freda Utley, who is also correspondent of the "Manchester Guardian," "News Chronicle," "New Statesman" and "Nation," and "Reynolds," was introduced by the President, Hon. Dr. Li Shu-fan, and gave a highly illuminating address on her recent visits to the Chinese war fronts.

The Hon. Dr. Li Shu-fan, welcomed visiting Rotarians and guests, among them being The Hon. Mr. N. L. Smith, Colonial Secretary. He also welcomed the newly-elected Rotary members.

In the course of her address, Miss Utley stated that the morale of the Chinese soldiers at the front, who were ill-equipped in comparison with the Japanese, was much superior than that of their enemies. "I can well believe after having climbed hills with them that they can outmarch soldiers of any other nation. Their ability to fight under conditions which no other soldier could stand and their cheerfulness and politeness combined to make them heroes of this terrible war," she said.

Miss Utley added that she spent three months in China. She made two visits to the front from Hankow, and met Dr. Robert Lim, head of the Chinese Red Cross and watched Dr. Lim attending the wounded who had come to the Red Cross hospital.

Miss Utley continued that she happened to meet, while in Hankow, a Chinese officer who spoke perfect French, having been educated in France, and who was a perfect example of one of those very patriotic Chinese. This officer suggested that she should go and visit the front lines and see the condition there. She went entirely on her own and met with the utmost courtesy from the Chinese on her way.

ALWAYS POLITE

The speaker stressed the fact that the Chinese on each and every occasion of her visits to the various fronts, were always polite and obliging. She was also very much impressed by the tactics of the Chinese troops.

On her way back, after travelling partly on foot and on horseback, Miss Utley saw the roads lined with dead and wounded, and was very disappointed to find that there were insufficient trucks and ambulances to convey the wounded back to the hospitals. One could not blame the Chinese for lacking in this respect, but she thought that more should be done on those lines.

Miss Utley said that she had an interview with Madame Chiang Kai-shek and learnt that special efforts are being made by her for suitable means of conveyance for the wounded.

OVERSEAS' AID

"Overseas Chinese have played a great part in helping to care for the wounded. Java sent an ambulance unit together with doctors. I feel that the most vital question at the moment is the question of doctors and nurses," stressed Miss Utley, and appealed to Chinese doctors and nurses to come forward and help their country.

Miss Utley added that she had heard from Hon. Dr. Selwyn-Clarke that Dr. Eva Ho Tung had just given up her work in Hongkong to join the Chinese Red Cross.

Continuing, Miss Utley spoke of her second visit to the front, on which occasion she was accompanied by Dr. Loo Chi-eh. They went to Yangsin where the field hospitals were better and where

Red Cross workers were doing valuable work.

TERRIFIC BOMBING

The day following her arrival in Yangsin, the town was subjected to a terrific bombardment by Japanese planes, and the speaker and her companion had to take shelter on many occasions in ditches and other odd places. The wounded, as a result of these bombings, had to be transported to the hospitals and Red Cross stations, but owing to the lack of trucks, most of them had to stagger for days to places where they could be treated.

The speaker said that medical supplies were urgently needed, one of the most vital being quinine to combat against the most dreaded disease at the front, namely malaria.

Miss Utley stated that the Chinese were superior in fighting ability, the main reasons for their retreats at times, being the use of gas by the Japanese and the malaria epidemic prevailing at the Japanese army.

The speaker, on her way back from the Julchang front, travelled part of the way on a truck packed with wounded soldiers.

TRUE CHINESE SOLDIER

"I have been struck by the extraordinary stoicism of the Chinese soldier. He bears pain with considerable bravery. He is the true Chinese soldier," she said.

Military observers had said that the Chinese soldiers were very brave and she had even heard an American say that he would be proud to command the Chinese troops.

In hand-to-hand fighting, the Chinese were easily superior to the Japanese. Miss Utley said that the Japanese had resorted to using poison gas, which although it did not kill the Chinese soldiers outright, made them unconscious for a number of hours, during which time the Japanese could mercilessly bayonet the unfortunate victims.

"I feel that the educated classes are not putting forward their full weight in helping their country. There is a desperate need of doctors and nurses. In general, the middle and upper classes of the Chinese nation are too inclined to regard the war as the 'soldiers' affair.' The modern Chinese soldier is thought of as a peasant. This is not the case, and Madame Chiang is herself exerting her every effort to break that thought. She goes to the hospitals to visit the wounded daily."

Miss Utley made an appeal to the example of Dr. Robert Lim and others who are at the moment engaged in rendering valuable services for their country.

Appealing to the British and American peoples, Miss Utley said that she had seen many air raids in Canton, Hankow, Wuchang, Hanyang and Nanchang. She had witnessed the hospitals being bombed and had seen the wounded and refugees being strafed by Japanese machine-guns. She would not believe that any others who had seen what she had, would not be in favour of sanctions against Japan as she is.

"The babies, children and women, whom I have seen dead would

COLOSSAL JAPANESE CASUALTIES

Hankow, Oct. 4. Japanese casualties as a result of fighting on the Yangtze River during the last two months are unexpectedly high, having reached the staggering figure of 100,000, according to a Shanghai report.

It is estimated that during the period about 60,000 Japanese wounded soldiers and 40,000 cases of cremated remains have been shipped back to Japan.—(Central News).

never have suffered if we had not supplied the Japanese with oil, iron, steel, aeroplanes, and chemicals. We should discontinue to supply Japan with her needs for causing destruction in her ruthless war of aggression. Why do we go on helping Japan? We know by now that she wants to drive us out of China. If we do not care for our treaty obligations, if we do not care for the ocean of misery and pain the Japanese have created in China, don't we care for our trade and investments?"

"I do not advocate war against Japan, but economic pressure. America would co-operate. They are much more interested in China's sufferings than we are, as seen by the large amount of American news correspondents at the various fronts compared to the number of correspondents of British and other journals."

In 1937, the British Empire and United States of America took 58 per cent of Japanese exports and supplied 71 per cent of her imports. No other countries can supply alternative markets. The real difficulties are the profiteers. The Japanese glow over this," she said.

Miss Utley made a final appeal for the wounded, remarking that funds collected abroad go mainly towards the International Red Cross and refugees, but mentioned that there would be less wounded refugees and dying soldiers if the army were looked after in a better manner.

In thanking the speaker, Dr. J. H. Montgomery said that he felt that the Rotary Club had been greatly honoured in having Miss Utley present. He mentioned that $5,000 had already been collected towards the cause, for which Dr. Lim was working in his training school in Changsha and stated that a supply of quinine was forthcoming shortly from London and Java.

Dr. Montgomery mentioned that Miss Utley would again speak tomorrow at the Helena May Institute at 5.30 p.m. under the auspices of the League of Nations Society and asked Rotarians to attend.

The gathering then stood for a minute's silence as a mark of respect for Dr. Fong Sec, President of the Rotary International 81st District, who died in Shanghai at the age of 83 on Monday after having been an invalid for some time.

Commons' Debate On Foreign Policy

VICTORY FOR HITLER

London, Oct. 4. "We all feel relief that war has not come this time, but we cannot feel that peace has been established," declared the Labour Opposition leader, Mr. C. R. Attlee, in opening his speech in reply.

"This has not been a victory for reason and humanity but for brute force," Mr. Attlee added. "We have seen a gallant, civilised and democratic people betrayed and handed over to a ruthless destiny."

"The events of past days were a great diplomatic victory. It was a tremendous victory for Hitler. 'Everybody recognises the great exertions the Prime Minister has made. Everybody will pay tribute to him and say he is the man who saved peace.'

"Yes, but he is the man who brought the danger as well." Mr. Attlee paid a tribute to the marvellous courage and self-control of Czechoslovakia and President Benes.

CIVILISED MAN

"It was the Czechs who averted war. Their President has been assailed in the most shameful language in Germany, and his bearing has shown the difference between a civilised man and a gangster."

The cause of this aggression was not the intolerable position of the Sudetens but because Hitler decided that the time was ripe for another step forward in his designs for domination of Europe.

No state on the Continent of Europe treated its minorities better than Czechoslovakia. Comparison of those minorities with the treatment of Jews, Catholics and Socialists in Germany, was heaven to hell.

LAW OF JUNGLE

Hitler had successfully asserted the law of the jungle and the whole of Europe was now under the constant menace of armed force.

Mr. Attlee said he was not putting all the blame on the British Government, because there had been great vacillations by the French Government.

If Czechoslovakia was not going to be supported she should have been told so. "That is where the betrayal comes in," he said.

SOLD THE PASS

Following Mr. Attlee, Sir Archibald Sinclair, Liberal leader, expressed his views on the situation. He said that the British Government could effectively check Japan's aggression on China, and Miss Freda Utley in an exclusive interview with the Central News.

She believed that America will not give up her interests in China despite Japan's efforts to oust them and that Britain also has vast interests in this country but cannot keep in line with America.

Referring to the war situation, she predicted that Japan will "sit tight" after the fall of Hankow. Japan will then commence to consolidate the occupied territories and seek to clean up the guerrillas.

Asked as to the possibility of a South China invasion, Miss Utley meaningfully pointed to the news report of large numbers of Japanese transports coming this way from the North.

VIGOROUS POLICY

She expressed the view that the resignation of the Japanese Foreign Minister, General Ugaki, will result in a more vigorous China policy to be pursued by Japan. However, she believed that the ascendancy of the extremists in Japan will lead the country into greater trouble. Cool and calculating, the moderates may carry out their aggression in China step by step, but the rashness of the extremists will likely provoke foreign intervention.

Miss Utley was convinced that if China continues to be united and hold out against Japan for long, foreign help is bound to come.

Miss Utley will sail for the United States by the Empress of Canada on Friday on a lecture tour at the invitation of the American Foreign Policy Association. After the tour, which will probably last till the end of December, she will return to England where she will continue to deliver lectures on China.

pressed, his personal respect for the courage of the way the Prime Minister had carried his recent responsibilities.

He thought, however, that Britain should live to rue the day when the Government sold the pass of freedom in Central Europe and left open Germany's march to eastern Europe.—Reuter.

ANTHONY EDEN ON CRISIS

Mr. Anthony Eden, former Foreign Secretary, took the floor in the course of the Parliamentary debate yesterday and after paying high tribute to Mr. Duff Cooper who, he declared, resigned from the Admiralty for reasons of political conviction, although the act was extremely painful to him personally, he commented at length upon the international crisis and the Munich Agreement.

He agreed with Mr. Duff Cooper that mobilization of the British Fleet should have been ordered much sooner in order to convince the war lords of Europe that Britain was serious in her intentions.

Expressing deep sympathy for the Czechs, Mr. Eden declared that the proposals in the Anglo-French plan were certainly adequate and that further concessions made in Munich were in no way justified.

GREAT INJUSTICE

"The world is grateful for the fact that war has been avoided," he declared, "but one must realise that peace was not secured at the cost of England or any other great Power but was bought at the price of great injustice to a small friendly nation."

Criticizing the details of the Munich Agreement, Mr. Eden expressed concern over the fact that Britain had deviated widely from her traditional policy to guarantee the existence of a European state.

"Never in our history," he stated, "have we guaranteed frontiers which, as in his case, do not even exist."

THREATENING DANGERS

Mr. Eden then urged that British armaments be studied in the light of recent experience so that the essential strength necessary to reinforce Britain's foreign policy can be provided. Problems of the moment have been solved, he declared, but one must look to the threatening dangers of the future. These cannot be counteracted by words of good will, he maintained, but only through a revival of the national spirit and a determined effort to build up a foreign policy behind which a united nation stands firmly.—Transocean.

London, Oct. 4.

In a statement in the House of Lords yesterday Lord Halifax, Foreign Secretary, offered the sympathy of the House and the country to President Benes and the Czechoslovak peoples.

Faced by grim dilemma, Dr. Benes had played his part and history would accord to him a special place for the wisdom of his choice, for without his decision a European war could not have been avoided, stated Lord Halifax.

The Foreign Secretary also defended the guarantee of the new Czechoslovak frontier. He said to guarantee Czechoslovakia's boundaries when she had large, restless and dissatisfied minorities was one thing, and the new guarantee with those explosive minorities removed was another.—British Wireless.

EXCLUSION OF SOVIET

London, Oct. 4. Lord Halifax repeated in the House of Lords yesterday what he had told the Soviet Ambassador, M. Maisky, a day or two ago, namely that if war was to be avoided it was necessary to act quickly.

The Government was compelled to recognise that Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini would almost certainly have declined negotiations at the Munich conference if the Soviet Government were represented.

Lord Halifax told pressmen that though it was impossible to include Russia at the conference the action in no way signified any weakening of the British Government's desire to preserve understanding and relations with the Soviet Government.—Reuter.

Sudetens Welcome Hitler With Cheers And Music

FUEHRER'S TRIUMPHAL TOUR OF CEDED TERRITORY

Eger, October 4.

Herr Hitler yesterday made a triumphal drive here from Asch, and was welcomed by a tremendous crowd. He remained, standing in his long, grey touring car with arm raised and face stern.

In the procession, there were 13 cars, in one of which rode Frau Henlein, wife of the leader of the former Sudeten German Party, and her three children.

German soldiers and Sudeten Free Corps guarded the whole 16-mile route, and behind the procession followed a growing crowd in buses, motor cars, bicycles and on foot.

At Haslau, where armed Sudetens faced Czechs during the crisis, Herr Hitler inspected 200 German soldiers. Thereafter, the procession traversed villages filled with great crowds whose cheers almost drowned the bands playing "Deutschland über Alles."

LUNCHEON IN TENT

Despite bitter cold and rain, the Fuehrer lunched in a tent on a hill overlooking Eger. Baron von Ribbentrop, German Foreign Minister, General von Reichenau, Chief of Staff of the German Army, Herr Himmler, chief of the German Secret Police, and Herr Henlein, now Reichs Commissioner for the Sudeten Regions, shared the simple meal cooked in the army field kitchen.

In the afternoon, Herr Hitler drove across the old frontier to Markneukirchen, spending the night in Hof Bavaria. To-day he will re-enter Sudetenland and visit Falkenau and Grassnitz.—Reuter.

THE MOST SATISFYING SHOT IN GOLF

Must Involve Much Force

A golfer's favourite shot is not always the one that gives him most satisfaction, writes a Home correspondent, Henry Cotton, for example, proclaims that his favourite shot is a drive into the wind, but he would not, one may be sure, make such a nomination unless he felt that he could play that shot better than the majority of his competitors.

Incidentally, he is a master of this not easily played shot, as anyone who saw him this year at Eastwood will remember.

All afternoon Gordon Peters had been driving just as far and as straight as the then Open Champion until they came to a hole near the end of the round—the sixteenth. It was played into the eye of the wind, and Cotton hit a superb low drive that outdistanced those of Peters and the two other players by many yards.

A favourite shot is, I think, one that gives a player the least trouble in execution; the most satisfying shot is the one that usually gives him most trouble. Let me give my own experience. My favourite shot is a mashie or mashie niblick, because I can play it reasonably well nine times out of ten.

A SHOT OF SHOTS

It is also, I should add, a satisfying shot, because it gives me a certain amount of physical and aesthetic pleasure. I like the feel of the clubhead biting through crisp turf and the sight of the ball climbing until it seems to hover over the target before dropping. But an infinitely more satisfying shot is one that comes to me only once in a long, long time—the long iron to a tightly trapped green played through a strong left-hand wind. I have been known to hit and hold the green in such circumstances, but usually the ball has started to the left of the target and has drifted on to the right line before it landed.

But that is a poor way of getting there, and can ill compare with a shot that starts on the flag and remains ruled on that line, the effect of the wind being countered by a nuance of draw that one has imparted, probably accidentally.

Such a shot is worth a multitude of lesser strokes, and will always be for me the most satisfying of golf shots—unless by some freak of excellence I become so skilled at the stroke that it ceases to terrify me beforehand.

There is perhaps only one factor common to all most satisfying strokes—they must involve a certain amount of physical effort. A long putt laid dead on a slippery green is good, but a long iron played to the heart of the same green is better. Or perhaps I am merely a worshipper of force.

NOTED SCOTS RUGBY PLAYER MARRIED

Bridegroom, Best Man Internationalists

Mr. Ian Shaw, Scottish, Rugby internationalist and one of Glasgow High School F.P.'s most consistent players, was married in Tiliwood Church, Glasgow, to Miss Hilda Brown, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown, Newark Drive, Glasgow.

His brother, Mr. R. Wilson Shaw, many times "capped" for Scotland, was best man.

The bridegroom is elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Shaw, of Rutherglen.

Miss Brown was given away by her father, and she wore a gown of tea-rose chiffon, designed on simple lines, and having a sunray-pleated train. She carried a bouquet of scarlet roses.

The bridesmaids, the Misses W. S. Whyte and N. Shaw, wore dresses of satin in the same shade as that of the bride. Satin leaves formed their headresses, and they carried bouquets of Ophelia roses.

FRANK OUT FOR LAST TIME

Beautifully Caught At Folkestone

FRANK WOOLLEY has played his last innings in first-class cricket. Beautifully caught, he walked slowly back to the pavilion at Folkestone recently with the crowd on its feet in tribute of farewell.

Later, in the lunch interval, Sir Pelham Warner and others made affectionate speeches and gave him a radio gramophone, which Patay Hendren pretended was a hurdy-gurdy, and turned an imaginary handle.

AND THREE FOR "PAT!"

And when three cheers had been given for Woolley, and some one called for three for Patay, Pat gave the first one for himself.

Woolley said that cricketing is "a good life." He has had thirty-two years of it for Kent and England, and now he is out, with these achievements written down in the records:—

59,384 runs.

2,061 wickets.

More than 900 catches.

COMPENSATION FOR BOMBED HOUSES

Government plans for paying compensation to house-owners in the event of damage by enemy aircraft in time of war have now been completed. A draft order in council will bring into operation a scheme which provides that:

1. An extra 2d in the 21 shall be added to schedule "A" income tax, i.e. the tax that is levied on property. The ordinary income tax on salaries, wages and dividends will not be affected.
 2. Compensation for any premises bombed will be paid out immediately the claim has been checked on the basis of the full cost of the damage done.
 Where a house has been bombed, the usual compensation will be the full value of the house, sufficient to enable the owner to clear off any outstanding mortgage he has with a building society. The scheme will also cover industrial plant.—(Business News).

TORY REVOLT IN THE CITY

In the City there seems to be a rapidly growing revolt against the proposals and Mr. Chamberlain's diplomacy. This is strongest in the most unlikely quarters—the die-hard City Tories.

One well-known City authority said that for the first time in his life he would do anything, even stand as a Labour candidate, in order to protest.

Another City magnate said that at a Tory City lunch club all the men he spoke to were of the same opinion, shocked at the proposals and denouncing the Government.

In one firm with many partners only one defended the plan—(Manchester Guardian).

ARTIFICIAL RADIUM

Experiments with an apparatus known as a "cyclotron" which may revolutionise the treatment of cancer and other diseases for which radium is a remedy are to be carried out at Liverpool University.

The apparatus, which is nearing completion, has the power to make chemical preparations radio-active. Among the experiments to be carried out will be those in connection with artificial radium for medical and scientific research purposes.

The use of artificial radium would make possible new forms of treatment such as internal application in the form of liquid or capsules. Real radium cannot be used in this way.—(Yorkshire Post).

ZOO'S TAMEST TIGRESS DIES

Rani, probably the tamest tigress the London Zoo ever possessed, died recently.

Rani was a gift from the state of Bihar, India, in 1932. A few weeks ago, she developed an internal complaint, for which the Zoo doctors treated her.

Rani's tameness always astonished visitors. It was due to the fact that when she arrived in 1932 as a cub she was taken in hand by the head keeper and became his special pet.

Until she was fully grown Rani would allow the keeper to stroke and caress her.
